

RDM winter show at Agromek was very successful

A fantastically fine show of red cows impressed the large audience at the RDM winter show at Agromek. There was high quality from top to bottom, and judge Mogens Madsen was very content with the quality of the animals and emphasized especially the super mammary and very fine feet and legs through all groups.

In the final five cows competed for the titles as RDM Champion and RDM Reserve Champion. This was an "open voting", and the winner was an R Ascona daughter followed closely by a FYN Cent daughter – both cows from Ernst Leif Nørgaard, Viborg. Besides the two Champion cows was also a prize to the R Fastrup daughter from Ernst Leif Nørgaard who in this way took all prizes at this year's winter show. Furthermore, an R Ascona daughter from Per Mortensen, Spøttrup, and an R Facet daughter from Marco Arensman, Aulum, won prizes.

In total this was a very fine RDM show receiving many compliments from the Danish cattle breeders, but also the Swedish and German guests were very impressed by the show.
